WAR CAMP COMMUNITY SERVICE NOTES.

The Wayne Minor Post of American Legion held an interesting meeting at the center Sunday afternoon.

The funeral of Charles Garner an ex-service man who died at the Wheatley Hospital, Saturday night was held at the C. M. E. Church, 19th and Paseo Tuesday 1:30 P. M. Six ex-service men of the Wayne Minor Post served as pall-bearers, also a beautiful floral spray was given by the post as a mark of respect for their deceased comrade.

The Community Service Club entertained the Chicago, Ill., base ball team, "Chicago Giants" Saturday evening October 18, 8:30 P. M. Most of the men are ex-service men and expressed their appreciation of the kindness of their friends and comrades. The hall was beautifully decorated with Halloween colors, a large streamer bearing the inscription "Welcome Chicago Giants" greeted the boys. Refreshments were served generously. About twenty-five couples enjoyed the evening in music, games and dancing.

The ladies of Poro Club met in their regular meeting Monday afternoon, and after the transaction of business entertained the boys with short literary program.
The Wednesday noon service is of great help to the boys and many have expressed their appreciation of same. Mr. Earl Beck, boys Sec'y, at the Paseo, Y. M. C. A. delivered the address this week.

At the End—Youth.

If I had created men and women, I should have framed them on a type widely different from that which has actually prevailed—that of the higher mammals. I should have made men and women, not to resemble the great apes as they do, but on the models of insects which, after a life as caterpillars, change into butterflies, and for the brief final term of their existence have no thought but to love and be loved. I should have set youth at the end of the human span.—From "The Garden of Epicurus," by Anatole France.

The Old Name for Windsor.

English royalty has resided at Windsor castle ever since Edward the Confessor built a hunting lodge just at the place where there came a great curve in the gentle river. In his "Child's Guide to London," Mr. A. J. Meibrey writes that the old name for the place was Windleshora or Windleshores, which may have meant "Winding shore," from the curve of the river at this point. Other say, however, that the word is derived from the Saxon "Windle," a willow tree.

To Fill Floor Cracks.

A very complete filling for open cracks in floors may be made by thoroughly soaking old newspapers in a paste made of one pound of flour to three quarts of water, or a less quantity in those proportions. Put one in-blespooiful of alum in the mixture and stir thoroughly until brought to a boiling heat. Make the final mixture about as thick as putty and apply with a putty knife. It will harden like papier mache.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of my daughter, Grace Taylor, who passed away one year ago, October 24, 1918.

Though your voice is ever silent and your true heart ceased to beat,
Yet I miss the well known footsteps of my girl I loved to greet;
Like ivy on the withered oak when all things also decay,
My love for you will still keep green and never fade away.

There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance lost forever;
The years may wipe out many things,
But this will wipe out never.
The memories of those happy days,
When we were both together,
One lonely year has passed away;
Since my great sorrow fell,
Yet in my heart I mourn the loss
Of one I loved so well.
